ENGLISH TOKENS.

As is well known, Mr. Doughty's collection of these beautiful and interesting coins has long occupied a preeminent place, being second only to that until recently owned by Major C. P. Nichols, of Springfield, Mass., now in part the property of a prominent New York collector. Formerly possessed by the late John J. Mickley, the Nichols collection embraced every variety obtainable at the time, and in the Conder series was particularly full. Sparing neither pains nor expense, Mr. Doughty succeeded in obtaining many of the genuine rarities of this series, including numerous specimens not known in any other American cabinet.

Contrary to the usual custom, we have, with a few exceptions, grouped these pieces according to condition, giving the numbers by Conder as well. The rarities, so styled on the authority of W. S. Lincoln & Son, of London, we have grouped together; also such as are wanting in Conder, and those missing from the Nichols collection. The Spence, Birmingham and Bath series will be found by themselves. This method, adopted after much consideration, we trust may meet the approbation of those interested. There are no duplicates in the collection. All familiar with Conder will understand the system of numbering. For such who are not we will say, that the first number is the page in Conder, the second the number on the page. Thus III/22 is Conder, page III, No. 22.
